What is the difference between “online class” and “online learning”?

Tell Me

The difference between an online class and online learning is the method of delivery.

- An online class is delivered virtually via Zoom as an instructor-led training (ILT). It is delivered synchronously (meaning other people attend at a specific same date and time).
- An online learning is delivered in an eLesson format without an instructor. It is delivered asynchronously (meaning individually, at your own pace, date or time.)

Related FAQs

- How do I access LEAD and EEODF training?
- Where can I find professional development opportunities?
- What is New Employee Onboarding?
- What if I need special assistance or accommodations while attending a workshop?
- Will my transcript from Percipio be on my training transcript?