What is DocuSign eNotary and can I use it?

Tell Me

1. Notaries in select jurisdictions can use DocuSign eNotary to electronically witness and authenticate the execution of documents. An overview that includes guidance on activating this functionality is available on the DocuSign website.
2. DocuSign eNotary terms and conditions state that the individual is responsible for making sure it is legal in their state and getting any required certificate. If you register, your eNotary services are made available to anyone who needs your assistance.
3. The North Carolina Secretary of State has provided related guidance.
4. Specific steps to become an electronic notary in North Carolina are available.
5. Approval from your supervisor should be obtained before proceeding with eNotary registration.

Related FAQs

- What is DocuSign?
- What is my DocuSign ID and how do I update my profile information?
- How do I digitally sign and submit disbursement forms?
- How do I login to DocuSign?
- How do I start using DocuSign?