Do employees have to provide verification of disability if asking for a workplace accommodation?

Tell Me

1. Yes, the Employee Relations staff may ask you to provide verification from a healthcare professional.

   a. The type of documentation may vary depending on the nature and extent of the disability and the accommodation requested.

Related FAQs

- Where can instructors find accessibility statements for approved campus technology?
- How do I check to see if a website is accessible?
- How do employees request a workplace accommodation at UNC Charlotte?
- What is accessibility?
- Do employees have to provide verification of disability if asking for a workplace accommodation?