Why would I want to claim a building in Google My Business?

Tell Me

- Claiming a location allows UNC Charlotte departments and areas to manage their online information, like hours and websites, across Google, including results from searches and on Google Maps.
- It is not necessary for departments and areas to claim a building. Google will use its search information to add certain information. If your building operation times vary over semesters and the summer, departments and areas may find this useful.

Related FAQs

- What is the process for reporting lost or stolen university-owned computer equipment?
- What are the guidelines for storing level 0 - 3 data?
- How do I approve or deny an imaging system task using a browser?
- Is there a computer requirement for students?
- How do I access imaging documents in workflow using Experience?